About ISRF 2025

The International Sustainable Rice Forum (ISRF) 2025 will bring together leaders across the global rice sector to discuss practical solutions for making rice more sustainable.

Hosted in Jakarta, one of the world's largest rice-producing countries, the forum provides a platform for producers, buyers, policymakers, researchers, and financiers to work towards a shared vision of sustainable rice.

Why this event matters

Rice feeds half the world's population every day. Yet, it is also one of the most climate-intensive crops, generating greenhouse gas emissions comparable to the aviation industry.

ISRF 2025 addresses this challenge by presenting pathways that balance food security, farmer livelihoods, and climate action.

Your support will place your organisation at the centre of this critical global dialogue.

Who you'll reach
